A new EP of storytelling wonder from Sugardrum

The hotly awaited new EP from Sugardrum, "3 Penny Postcard" is being released on 11th November on Wupadupa Music.

This is the follow up to last years debut EP "Where Once was Roads" which was featured on the BBC 6music Introducing Mixtape this summer. The new EP's storytelling songs are filled with humour and warmth; the thought provoking lyrics sharing original tales matched with a "gift for melody".

The title track "Postcard" was recently aired on BBC 6music and described by Tom Robinson's Freshnet as "Fing Superb". The EP also includes the song "Choccy Rolls"; described as a "heartfelt song about dementia".

Lying on the boundary between folk and indie, Sugardrum shifts effortlessly between the two with strong male vocals, female harmonies and deftly picked acoustic guitar. Cello, glockenspiel, Rhodes Piano, percussion and various old school keyboard electronica make up the rest of the sound.

Sugardrum is a solo project of songwriter, storyteller and multi-instrumentalist, Nigel Bunner. The song "Choccy Rolls" on the new EP has become especially poignant since the EP's completion; its theme of dementia being mirrored in the lives of his parents after a devastating car accident which left them both mentally incapacitated.

The events of the last year have inspired Nigel to donate proceeds of the EP pre-launch gig on 11th October to two memory loss charities along with promoting awareness of them. Copies of the new CD will be available to buy on the night followed by a string of tour dates supporting the official launch on iTunes, Spotify etc in November.
